

MOTHER BUNCH,

AND

TOM HOP O' MY THUMB.

LONDON:

E. WALLIS, 42, SKINNER STREET.

MOTHER BUNCH,

AND

TOM HOP O' MY THUMB.

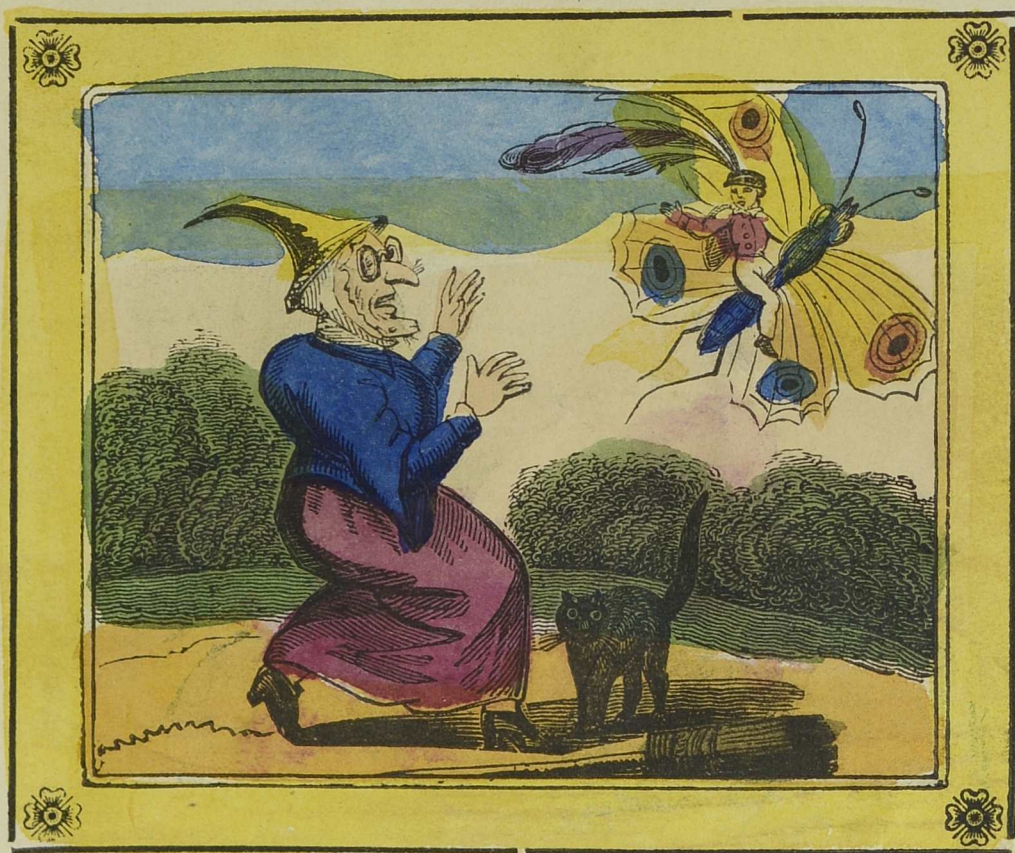

Who are you?

Hop o' my Thumb,

What are you doing?

Eating a Plum.

Old Mother Bunch,
I'm flying away,
On a Butterfly's back:
So I wish you good day.

FOR THE BIRTH AND FOR THE

Old Mother Bunch,
I'm flying away,
On a butterfly's back:
So I wish you good day.

Hop o' my Thumb,
Will you have some boil'd rice?
No.---I am driving
A car drawn by mice.

Old Mother Bunch,
Shall we visit the moon?
Come mount on your Broom,
I'll stride on this spoon :
Then hey to go !
We shall be there very soon.

WATERBURY, VERMONT

Hop o' my thumb, doll

What causes this rig?

Oh! I'm dancing

A bit of a jig.

Hop o' my Thumb,
What causes this rig?
Poh! I'm dancing
A bit of a jig.

Hop o' my Thumb,
What have you been at?
I have been fishing,
And caught a great sprat.

HOP O' MY THUMB

Hop o' my Thumb,
What have you been at?
I have been fishing,
And caught a great one!

Help, Mother Bunch!
I'm! I'm! I scream
I shall be drownd
In a pan full of cream
Oh you and your
You were stealing a rip
And very well punished
By getting a dip
True Mother Bunch;
The I've caught me to steal
Did they only hold
Then my dream she shall feel

Help, Mother Bunch!

Fire! Murder! I scream—
I shall be drown'd
In a pan full of cream.

Oh, you sad rogue,
You were stealing a sip,
And very well punished,
By getting a dip.

True Mother Bunch;
But Puss taught me to steal.
Did she? odds bobs!
Then my broom she shall feel.

Old Mother Bunch,
Oh! pray do come here,—
For this ugly Toad
Makes me tremble with fear.
The Dame kill'd the Toad,
All speckled to view;
Little Thumb danced for joy,
And Pussy cried mew.
