

Wm. H. Johnson

Wm. H. Johnson, 1850

Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be
Let there be

Wm. H. Johnson, 1850

ORPHANS AND FRIENDLESS.

Learned, industrious and industrious boys, rescued by Miss Macpherson, and educated into the House of Learning, after being abandoned and left for a few weeks, are taken to the Fairview Home to be educated and prepared for migration to Canada. Their willingness to work and earn an honest living is here put to the test in various ways.

Friends who are willing to care these boys from home to the end of their journey, and help them to a future of honest independence—in the name of Him who has called us to witness them, and bids us care for the orphan and the fatherless—will do us "as God hath prospered them."

During the last few seasons little children have been placed in happy homes in Canada, where are now flourishing.

Further information of this system work amongst the children can be obtained on application to

Miss ANNE MACPHERSON,

House of Industry,

Commercial St., Spitalfields,

London, E.

She provides a complete Family and Foreign Agency in Canada.